

ultimate patient care

“Only very experienced cosmetic dentists can achieve the look of truly real-looking, white, beautiful teeth,” says Dr. Daniel Aneszko. “It’s more than just about great dentistry.”

Dr. Aneszko describes four main attributes that a successful cosmetic dentist must have: one, an artistic eye; two, the ability to hear and then deliver what the patient wants; three, the education and experience to create the vision; and four, a ceramist who shares the same vision. When veneers are constructed at Water Tower Dental Care, Dr. Aneszko and his partner in the practice, Dr. Rana Stino, work closely with a skilled ceramist, who makes each tooth by hand. When new patients enter the ultra-modern office, which overlooks Chicago’s Magnificent Mile, one of the cosmetic dentists sits down with them to ensure that their needs, goals, fears and desires are understood, explains Dr. Stino. “We are prepared to discuss the appropriate treatment options that will result in a high degree of success for the patient, both functionally and aesthetically.”

Dr. Aneszko adds, “We strive for the ultimate patient experience through complete customer service and exemplary care delivered by talented, progressive professionals. We respect our patients and are committed to education and the growth of our profession through technology.” The doctors have performed countless smile makeovers and have been trained in the most prestigious cosmetic dentistry schools in the nation. Their expertise and experience have even landed them on the “Oprah Winfrey Show,” which has showcased their work numerous times.

RX FOR CROOKED TEETH

One of the most amazing cosmetic techniques performed by the team at Water Tower Dental Care is an almost INSTANTANEOUS STRAIGHTENING OF ONE'S TEETH. Crooked teeth can be straightened in just two short visits spaced about two weeks apart, without using braces. Between the two visits, ATTRACTIVE TEMPORARY VENEERS are worn, which are similar in shape and design to how the new smile will look. The “reshaping” of the crooked teeth is done with PORCELAIN VENEERS. Ideal for the front teeth, the veneers improve the overall smile by bonding new “fronts” on the existing teeth. Not only do the veneers straighten teeth, but they also reshape them and make teeth appear whiter. Porcelain is the material of choice due to its strength, which can repair weakened or fractured teeth, and its color, which can closely match the natural tooth color. The procedure also allows the dentist to remove only minimal enamel, preserving healthy tooth structure.
